WHY SOCIAL WORK AT SAINT ROSE?

Enjoy small classes and responsive, caring faculty. Our faculty, chosen for their teaching excellence, are here to help you succeed.

Practice informs research; research informs practice. Grounded in evidence-based interventions, we prepare you to be an advanced generalist with a comprehensive knowledge of social work, plus a focus on health and well-being.

Spend time working in the field, not commuting. We work to find placements that align with your career goals as well as location.

We have a tradition of helping others. Whether you want to specialize in health care, family services, underprivileged communities, or LGBTQ issues, you're in the right place at Saint Rose.

Our flexible schedule lets you live your life. Our program allows you to meet your other obligations, and our close-knit cohort supports you, whether you're working, caring for family, or changing career directions.

*If you aspire to a career helping others but aren't sure if social work is for you, look into in our programs for school or mental-health counseling, school psychology, or education.

EXPERIENCED FACULTY

“With decades of experience, I’ve developed expertise in mental health, end-of-life care, HIV/AIDS, as well as adoption and foster care. My current focus is on mental-health models, client self-determination, and coping mechanisms for stress.

As faculty, I’m dedicated to using my clinical and professional experience to inform my teaching and optimize your experiential learning. At Saint Rose, I’m one of many instructors with clinical, administrative, policy, advocacy, and research mastery, who put their expertise to work to help you advance in your profession.”

— Janet Acker, Assistant Professor of Social Work
PhD, University at Albany, SUNY; MSSW, Columbia University
