As an LCSW, you will provide social work services and support to patients and their caregivers by applying social work theories, principles, and methods. Your responsibilities will include conducting strength-based assessments, evaluations, and developing and implementing treatment plans to address the psychosocial effects of illness on both the patient and their support system. You will offer education, make referrals to community resources, and may provide clinical services and psychotherapy aimed at resolving psychosocial challenges and removing barriers to effective disease management.

Responsibilities:

- Provides diagnostic assessment of mental, behavioral, emotional, addictive and developmental disorders/disabilities of individuals, families and groups and the aspects of illness, injury and impairment within a psychosocial framework and within the scope of licensure; documents diagnoses and assessment in the medical record.
- Develops and implements assessment-based treatment plans and an integrated plan of prioritized clinical interventions based upon the treatment plan to address impairments, enhance functioning and modify maladaptive behavior of the patient and caregiving system.
- Provides distress management, lethality assessment, crisis oriented and brief short-term psychotherapy to individuals, groups and families and serves as a liaison between patients and families in distress and staff in times of extreme emotional distress.
- Provides clinical counseling to individuals, families and groups regarding the psychosocial aspects of illness, disability, grief and bereavement designed to ameliorate emotional and social barriers to disease management.

- Acts as a member of the multidisciplinary team regarding psychosocial issues and concerns; participates in formal and informal family, psychosocial and multidisciplinary conferences regarding these issues; acts as a liaison between patient, family, and hospital staff during times of crisis and extreme emotional distress.
- Documents assessment, goals, plans, problems and interventions in the medical record.
- Prepares written documentation as required by the profession and the department; maintains, distributes, analyzes and projects information for required records, reports and statistics as directed.
- Works directly with patients to assess personal, physical, cultural, and other needs that impact treatment adherence and patient satisfaction.
- Recognizes what needs can be matched with what resources and delegates resolution to appropriate staff.

Requirements

- New York State licensure as a Licensed Clinical Social Worker (LCSW).
- Master's degree in Social Work from a Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) accredited facility
- Minimally one (1) year of full-time experience in Medical Social Work.
- Bereavement counseling, and/or experience in a comprehensive cancer center required.

Salary - $65,000-100,000 annually
